Also loved that I am able to do the crafts with my kids. As the title stated, this book is specifically for very young kids - toddlers and preschoolers. Most crafts and activities are meant to be done by you AND your child together. If you are looking for something for your 2-year old to do all by her/himself without your involvement, this is not the book for you. The projects in this book helped that I can spend quality time with my kids and we all have lots of fun!4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Fun sanity savers with inexpensive craft supplies!!By Abigail BurasIf this book isn't a sanity saver, I don't know what is! Sheesh - between the weather and the holidays and the flu going around, this book has proven priceless in keeping my little ones occupied while allowing me to keep a little bit of the sanity I have left! Since I used to be an assistant in an elementary school, I have helped children with multiple crafts, but most of the crafts detailed in this books are ones I have never done with children - my own or anyone else's. That makes it fun for my own creative side as well. Dividing the book into seasonal categories is a lot of help as is having some crafts that are for either gender and then ones geared to specific genders. We just loved the castle crafts during our last bout of illness...when my son and daughter both felt well enough to craft, we worked on the castle together and then when just one or the other felt better, we worked on the details that were specifically appealing to whichever kid. My daughter loved the princess and the pea craft while my son enjoyed making the royal court people. I loved how cheap it was - just needed regular craft supplies and empty toilet paper and paper towel tubes that I have been saving knowing they would be of use sooner or later. This book is one I will enjoy sharing with my siblings as well - in the interest of sanity saving, of course!6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. Wonderful, Fun and Easy Crafts!!By AlireeI purchased this book because I recently started babysitting for my neighbors 3 1/2 year old girl. The book has all the crafts and projects broken into different seasons but I have found many of them can be done year round. I like that most of the crafts require things that I already have around the house. One of my favorites is the Step On It craft that required turning her footprint into a snowman. I am loving all the decorations we have created so far. Many of these activities are educational and she is learning so much. I plan on having my older kids create some of these crafts to give to the grandparents for certain holiday's.

Toddlers and preschoolers can be difficult to keep busy because their attention spans tend to be short lived. Yet, they are curious and imaginative and so much fun to spend time with. Furthermore, most young children just want to be entertained throughout the hours of the day and are eager to learn anything they can. Now, you too can collaborate with your little one on art masterpieces and decorative crafts, as well as play educational games. Whether you're a parent, nanny, day care provider, or preschool teacher, you can benefit from this long list of activities to stimulate children's minds and keep their hands busy for hours. In this book you will find a wealth of ideas to share with your young child. Some of the activities require your close supervision. Many of the arts and crafts projects will result in beautiful seasonal decorations to display in your home. You will be astounded by the creations you can make with your preschooler, who will, alternatively, be enthusiastic about tapping their imagination, enhancing their knowledge, and most of all, spending valuable time with you. The 103 activities are split into four main categories that correspond to the four seasons. Many of the projects can be done during any season, but the subcategories are themed. Here are what the subcategories look like: IntroductionThe Best Way to Use This Book I. SpringLets Go FishingPirates and PrincessesEaster II.
