The pictures are all mandalas of some sort, which I love. Some of them are a bit small, so I use gel pens, but then some are more spread out. My only complaint would be that some of the pictures aren't centered (when I think they should be). I mean, some are supposed to be of center, but the ones that look like they are supposed to be centered aren't.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Color onBy Gabriela ZagoPretty nice small calendar, with one page a day to color. I got lazy and ended up being behind, but it is nice to have 365 pages to color. Pages are detachable, so you can paint each day and then remove from the calendar. The size is small, but for me it is a great size to keep on the desk.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Calm and ColorBy G. L. FrostGreat gift for your coloring friends. This has daily pages with the dates and black and white lined designs to add your own color. I'm gifting it to a friend for Valentines day and I'm sure she will enjoy the sentiment on the cover and the opportunity to color her life.

Every day is a clean slate, literally a new page to color in the morning or at the end of the day to shake off stress and relax. Each page features a beautiful print with intricate design that you can color and make your own depending on your mood, creativity level, and your schedule. Like what you've created? Pull the page out and frame or pass along to someone else as a note card. At the end of the year you'll get to look back and contemplate the colorful journey you've been on.
