Hand-Dyed Fabric Made EasyBy John K.Not really aimed at the beginner, but informative and well illustrated.

Start your next fabric project off right with gorgeous fabric hand dyed by you! Even beginners will get beautiful results with the simple and fun techniques in Hand-Dyed Fabric Made Easy. Explore the design possibilities of fiber-reactive dyes, create fascinating surface treatments and textures, and produce any number of coordinating color families. There's no mess and no fuss, because everything is dyed in plastic bags! Work your way through eight different dyeing projects to gain the skills and information you need to take off on your own and build a fantastic collection of fabric. Pointers, charts, and step-by-step guidelines are included for a range of color palettes. Includes easy-to-understand tips on color theory, plus color suggestions and a full-color gallery for inspiration.

About the Author
Hometown: Gilbert, Arizona
Over the past 10 years, Adriene Buffington has tried everything from traditional patchwork to art quilts. She soon began developing her own ideas for dyeing fabric. One of her innovative ideas (dyeing fabric inside plastic bags) eliminates nearly all of the mess associated with hand dyeing. Adriene is an enthusiastic teacher whose current goal is to make hand-dyed fabric accessible and affordable to every quilter working in any style.
