10 of 10 people found the following review helpful. fun with my granddaughterBy Dorothy A. BenoitYou delivered the book so fast. My granddaughter was coming and I decided to give it a try. The story was wonderful and the instructions were easy for her. She is 7. I had fun teaching her to knit a scarf. Part way through, she was getting bored, so we stopped and turned it into an eyeglass case, for her sunglasses. She started a scarf the next day. Even my daughter wanted to learn, so we tried to teach her. My granddaughter was hard on her and very competitive. I would recommend this to anyone who wants to have fun reading and knitting with a child or grandchild. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Got this for Grandson By Shopper girl This is a great book for children wanting to knit. My grandson started to knit when 5. Its pretty cute to see a boy knitting, until he gets into sports. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A little disappointed By Karla The book didn't seem to catch the attention of the children I was trying to teach to knit. The illustrations didn't seem to get across to them what we were trying to do with the yarn. We will try it again and see if it was just a timing issue.

Meet Mary Ruth she and her brother Jacob are going to Grandmas house for the weekend. There's nothing Mary Ruth likes more, because Grandma has a wonderful crafts room full of cool things. And this visit, Grandma has promised Mary Ruth a special surprise: knitting lessons! At first, Mary Ruth is afraid it might be hard. But she discovers it's fun and easy too. The accompanying book features Mary Ruth's knitting instructions written just the way Grandma taught me, with all the basic techniques and directions for four projects: a Barkley Ball, Hotsy-Totsy Hat, Tasseled Skinny Scarf, and Kitty Comforter.
