Carl Sandburg : Smoke and Steel (Classic Reprint) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Smoke and Steel (Classic Reprint):

Sandburg remains wonderful!2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Smoke and Steel it isBy Christopher M. CombsI recalled a collection by Sandburg entitled Harvest Poems. In this was a copy of the Hangman poem, it was a joy to read this and many others again.The imagery is powerful and as usual a treat for the mind

Smoke of the leaves in autumn another. Smoke of a steel-mill roof or a battleship funnel, They all go up in a line with a smokestack, Or they twist ... in the slow twist ... of the wind. If the north wind comes they run to the south. If the west wind comes they run to the east. By this sign all smokes know each other. Smoke of the fields in spring and leaves in autumn, Smoke of the finished steel, chilled and blue, By the oath of work they swear: I know you. Hunted and hissed from the center Deep down long ago when God made us over, Deep down are the cinders we came from You and I and our heads of smoke.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books' Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
